Non-IFRS Measure

The Company has included herein certain supplemental measures of key performance, such as net loss excluding non-cash charges. The term "net loss excluding non-cash charges" refers to new earnings (loss) before share-based compensation. The Company believes that net loss excluding non-cash charges is useful supplemental information as it provides an indication of the results generated by the Company's main business activities prior to taking into consideration the items listed above. This non-IFRS measure does not have any standardized meaning and is therefore unlikely to be comparable to similar measures presented by other issuers and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for measures of performance prepared in accordance with IFRS.

Corporate Overview and Nature of Business

Liquid Meta was incorporated provincially under the Business Corporation Act (British Columbia) on January 6, 2020 as Liquid Meta Capital Holdings Ltd. Liquid Meta's registered office is located at 700-401 West Georgia Street, Vancouver, British Columbia, V6B 5A1. The Company is a public company whose common shares trade on the NEO Exchange Inc. under the symbol "LIQD".

Prior to discontinuing operations during the year ended May 31, 2023, Liquid Meta was a technology-enabled company that was building proprietary software and tools to access, automate, and scale operations within the fast-growing DeFi segment of the blockchain industry. Liquid Meta was a DeFi and Web3 focused company and was developing best-in-class technology and operational expertise allowing it to build a scaled business within proof-of-stake ("PoS") based networks (see "Proof-of-Stake" for more information).

Liquid Meta was focused on the DeFi segment of the digital asset ecosystem through its Liquidity Mining business. Further, Liquid Meta's focus was to scale its liquid mining operations through consistent fee generation, not necessarily through exposure to the volatility of digital asset prices themselves. Gaining exposure to digital assets such as Bitcoin and Ethereum has become much simpler for retail and institutional investors alike, Liquid Meta was building what it believed was core infrastructure and a business model that was sustainable over the long term in the sector.

Liquidity Mining is the practice of staking digital assets across one or many blockchain-based protocols or applications, such as Uniswap or Sushiswap, through liquidity pools. A liquidity pool is a pool of tokens that are locked in smart contracts that interact with a decentralized exchange ("DEX") to facilitate the exchange of digital assets. Every time a transaction occurs within the liquidity pool, the protocol generates a service fee for the transaction, a portion of which is distributed to liquidity providers in the form of fees for providing a service to the protocol. Additionally, in some cases, liquidity miners can also earn protocol reward tokens by protocols and applications, which are offered as incentives and additional revenue generating opportunities for liquidity miners for interacting and providing liquidity to various protocols.

Liquid Meta was liquidity mining across many blockchain-based protocols or applications across Decentralized Exchanges. In exchange for providing this liquidity, Liquid Meta was distributed a fee. Liquidity Mining was the primary focus of the company's operations.

On December 21, 2022, the Company announced that it initiated a process to evaluate potential strategic alternatives and that it was pausing the development of its proprietary software. Further, on March 9, 2023, the Company announced that its board of directors had concluded the initial phase of its previously announced strategic review process, as disclosed in the Company's press release dated December 21, 2022. Subsequently, on May 29, 2023, the Board determined that it is desirable and in the best interest of the Company to discontinue the operations of the Company's liquidity crypto mining business and discontinue the development of the Company's MetaBridge technology. Since then, the Company's operational focus has been, and continues to be, on identifying and investigating potential strategic transactions or alternatives for the Company. As part of its strategic review process, the Board of Directors continues to evaluate potential strategic alternatives to preserve or maximize shareholder value, including, among other things, consider a range of options that may include, but are not limited to, a sale, merger, divestiture, return of capital, other strategic transactions, or continuing to operate as an independent public company. The Company is in the process of evaluating its future business operations and will provide an update once details are available. Please refer to the "subsequent events" disclosure for additional details.

The fair values of the Company's financial instruments, if any, are not materially different from their carrying values.

Financial instruments that are measured subsequent to initial recognition at fair value are grouped in levels 1 to 3 of the fair value hierarchy based on the degree to which inputs used in measuring fair value is observable:

Level 1 – quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities. There are no financial instruments measured at fair value which are classified as Level 1.

Level 3 – inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs). The Company's level 3 financial instruments are restricted to notes receivable.

Risk exposure and management

The Company's financial instruments are exposed to certain financial risks, which include the following:

(a) Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Company. The maximum exposure to credit risk at the reporting date to recognized financial assets is the carrying amount of cash and cash equivalents, notes receivable and amounts receivable as disclosed in the statements of financial position.

The Company manages credit risk, in respect of cash and cash equivalents, by maintaining bank accounts at highly rated financial institutions. The notes receivable are secured against the assets and property of Cellview.

(b) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulties in meeting obligations when they become due. The Company manages liquidity risk by maintaining adequate cash reserves, by continuously monitoring actual and forecast cash flows and matching the maturity profiles of financial assets and liabilities. In addition, as outlined above the daily liquidity management function monitors and manages amounts deposited with digital asset custodians.

As at February 28, 2025, the Company had working capital of $6,209,818 (As at May 31, 2024 - $6,050,886).

(c) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and price risk. These are discussed further.

I. Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company's interest-bearing financial instruments are limited to its cash and cash equivalents and notes receivable which are based on fixed interest rates. The Company does not have interest bearing debt and therefore is not exposed to significant interest rate risk.

II. Foreign currency risk

Currency risk relates to the risk that the fair values or future cash flows of the Company's financial instruments will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company held positions in various crypto currencies which had a market value stated in US dollars. Exchange rate fluctuations affect the costs that the Company incurs in its operations. The Company's functional currency is the US dollar and major purchases are transacted in US dollars. The Company is not subject to material foreign currency risk.

III. Price risk

Price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market prices, other than those arising from interest rate risk or foreign currency risk. The company is not subject to material price risk.

Significant Accounting Policies

The Company's significant accounting policies can be found in Note 3 of its audited financial statements for the year ended May 31, 2024, and note 3 of the unaudited interim condensed financial statements for the nine months ended February 28, 2025.

Critical Accounting Estimates and Assumptions

The preparation of the Company's financial statements requires management to make judgments and estimates and form assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates. Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised and in future periods affected.

Critical accounting judgments

(i) Functional currency
(ii) Accounting for and valuation of digital assets
(iii) the assessment of the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and whether there are events or conditions that may give rise to significant uncertainty.

Risks

General Risks

Liquid Meta has a limited history of operations and is in the early stage of development. As such, Liquid Meta will be subject to many risks common to early-stage enterprises, including undercapitalization, cash shortages, limitations with respect to personnel, financial and other resources, and lack of revenue. There is no assurance that Liquid Meta will achieve its operating goals. There is no assurance that Liquid Meta will be successful in achieving a return on shareholders' investment and the likelihood of success must be considered in light of its early stage of operations. There can be no assurance that Liquid Meta will be able to earn material revenue or that any of its activities will generate positive cash flow.

Liquid Meta's compliance and risk management programs may not be effective

The Company's ability to comply with applicable laws and rules is largely dependent on the establishment and maintenance of compliance, review and reporting systems, as well as the ability to attract and retain qualified compliance and other risk management personnel, as needed. The Company cannot provide any assurance that its compliance policies and procedures will be effective or that it will be successful in monitoring or evaluating its risks. If there is any alleged non-compliance with applicable laws or regulations, The Company could be subject to investigations and judicial or administrative proceedings that may result in substantial penalties or civil lawsuits for damages, restitution or other remedies, which could be significant. Any of these outcomes, individually or together, may materially and adversely affect the Company's reputation, financial condition and valuation, and the value of its common shares.

Unexpected market disruptions may cause major losses for Liquid Meta

The Company may incur major losses in the event of disrupted markets and other extraordinary events in which market behavior diverges significantly from historically recognized patterns. The risk of loss in such events may be compounded by the fact that, in disrupted markets, many positions may become illiquid, making it difficult or impossible to close out positions against which markets are moving. Market disruptions caused by unexpected political, military and terrorist events, or other factors, may from time to time cause dramatic losses for Liquid Meta.
